European observatory on democratic innovation

we are Eutopian and we believe in democratic innovation

more about us

Eutopian is an independent, inclusive and open observatory on democratic innovation, both as innovation within a democratic context and as innovation of democracy, recognizing that the two aspects are inseparable from each other, and are fundamental for a digital society model in which humans retain their centrality; and on the digital revolution in its various aspects: technological, scientific, economic, legal, social, cultural, political.

At Eutopian we are committed to engage policy makers throughout the EU on the new challenges, while providing governmental organisations and businesses alike guidance on the legal, financial and technological tools needed to successfully implement innovation. We team up with specialised companies and professionals to control innovation risk and ensure minimal disruption.

why getting involved ?

- Networking - Eutopian's main asset is the ability to build a network amongst businesses, public administrations and experts in innovation, sustainable digital transformation and policy making
- Press review - Eutopian provides members with a daily press review on economics, innovation, sustainability, future of work
- Development of project ideas - Submitting an innovative project for an European or national funding call is an activity that requires time and specialised knowledge. A careful preliminary evaluation of the idea and an adequate initial structuring save time and guarantees better results
- Academy and Courses - Innovating and developing innovative projects requires the development of high skills and capabilities. Drawing on its network of experts on topics of interest, Eutopian offers training courses on European innovation and design
- Presence at the European institutions - Drawing on a network of public policy experts residing in Brussels, Eutopian offers a representative service for participation in events and for policy maker involvement
